Flxible Company Plans to Rebuild; One Worker Hurt In $1,000,000 Fire

200 EMPLOYEES FLEE FACTORY AFTER BLAST

Loudonville's Largest Plant Hit By Flames; Funeral Cars, Ambulances Lost.

By NITA BRANSON
LOUDONVILLE — While ruins of the paint, service, and engineering shops of the Flxible company, this village's major industry, still smoldered today, Hugo H. Young, president and general manager of the firm, announced that plans will be prepared immediately for a larger plant.

The two-story brick and frame building was destroyed yesterday afternoon in a spectacular million-dollar fire touched off by an explosion in a drying oven of the paint shop. The leveled building represented 50,000 square feet of floor space and was about 200 feet square.

The 200 employees in the building miraculously escaped serious injury, workers fleeing the burning structure through windows and down fire escapes. Only injury reported was a hand burn suffered by L. J. Allerding.

Funeral Cars Lost.

The loss, exceeding $1,000,000, included 75 ambulances and funeral cars in the process of building, irreplaceable engineering tracings and drawings, and all the equipment of the paint shop, service department, and engineering offices.

Water was still being poured on the ruins this morning by the Loudonville fire department. Fire Chief Harold Stockman said.

Mansfield, Ashland, Millersburg, Perryville and Wooster fire departments sent equipment to battle the flames, but the fire spread so rapidly that firemen concentrated on saving other nearby buildings.

Between 150,000 and 175,000 gallons of water was poured on the blazing building, Edgar S. Pennell, superintendent of Loudonville water department, said today.

Save Main Offices.

Because of the prompt action by Loudonville and other fire departments, the flames were kept from enveloping the main offices at the west end of the building. These offices were housed in the first building erected by the company in 1917. By 4 p. m. the fire had been brought under control.

The structure destroyed yesterday was one of three which made up the plant, one of the leading firms in the country in the manufacture of buses, ambulances and funeral cars.

The heat was so intense that windows in six nearby houses were broken and the walls of the Loudonville Milling company were seared.

The loss is well covered by insurance, in spite of cancellation of part of a policy issued by the Lumbermen Mutual Insurance company, over a year ago, Young said today.

Praises Workers.

"I'd particularly like to commend Frank Warner, Ralph Neiderhiser, chief engineer; Paul Dudge, manager of the service department, and Joseph Heffelfinger, manager of the parts division for their heroic efforts in helping employees get out of the smoke-filled and burning building," Young said.

The 200 employees deprived of immediate jobs by yesterday's fire are a part of the entire personnel of 975 employed by the company. Many of the employees who worked in the ruined building were at the plant this morning helping to clean up the debris.

Corn's Accident Scatters Corn

CIRCLEVILLE—(U)—A truck driven by Wilbur Corn, 23, of nearby Willow Wood, swerved off the road north of here and struck a utility pole. Corn was scattered all over the road.

Fortunately, the corn that was scattered was 110 bushels of grain by the same name in the back of the truck. Wilbur was unhurt.

3 Plead Guilty In Store Hold-Up; Bound to Jury

Three men accused of the hold-up of the Black Fork market, near the Ashland-Richland county line on U. S. Route 42, last Monday night pleaded guilty in municipal court today.

Charged with armed robbery were Sherman D. Wade, 24, of 570 Daisy street; Clyde Burghard, 25, of 183 East Fourth street, and Walter Reed Williams, 34, of 183 East Fourth street.

Each was bound to the grand jury, under $3,000 bond.

A fourth companion in the stick-up, a 15-year-old youth, is in county jail awaiting the filing of charges in juvenile court. Delinquency through armed robbery is the charge expected in his case.

Details of the robbery, as reconstructed from statements of Mrs. Sam Stankovich, wife of the market proprietor, and the confessions of the accused men, indicated Wade brandished a 32-caliber pistol, owned by Williams, as the men entered the store.

None of the men said a word as Wade leaped a counter and seized Mrs. Stankovich's pocketbook which she reported contained $580 in $20-bills. The 15-year-old boy waited at the door and Williams, armed with a blackjack, stood near the counter, police said.

Burghard, owner of the getaway car, waited as a look-out in the auto and drove after the men ran to the vehicle. After driving over several country roads the men came into Mansfield over Piper road where, at the Erie railroad tracks, they threw away the empty pocketbook.

Still unrecovered is the bulk of the loot. The prisoners still maintain, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said, that they found only $1.80 in the pocketbook. However, the charge of armed robbery will still hold regardless of the amount stolen, officers said.

HOTEL BURNS

LOS ANGELES—(U)—Fire, apparently set by an arsonist, today swept a Los Angeles hotel, killing one man and severely burning three other men. Twenty occupants were carried to safety down fire ladders and half a dozen more escaped by sliding down ropes tied from bed clothing.

C. A. McKinley, assignment clerk, said 38 cases, some of them nearly four years old, have been assigned for hearing by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch for the week of Jan. 13. The court will have to average more than seven cases a day to cover all the scheduled cases in a week.

Many of the petitions represent marital rifts which have been reconciled since the petitions were filed, but in which the actions weren't officially.

The hearings are scheduled for 9 a. m. each day from Jan. 13 to and including Jan. 17. Plaintiffs, defendants and attorneys, if any, as listed in the court's schedule are:

Jan. 13—Arlene McDanel (George W. Biddle) vs. Richard D. McDanel; Elizabeth Milligan (C. H. Huston) vs. Harold Milligan; Emogene Duncan (A. B. Mabes) vs. Clifford Duncan; El-nora Hardman (A. S. Beach) vs. Harry Hardman; Granville

$1,000,000 SMOKE—Like a cloud of disaster, smoke rose to terrific heights over the Flxible company's plant in Loudonville at the heights of a fire that destroyed the company's main building with loss officially estimated at more than $1,000,000. The fire, originating in an explosion in the paint shop, quickly consumed the service and engineering offices in the building located along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. 3 YOUNGSTERS DIE OF BURNS

PERRYSBURG, O.—(U)—Two Perryburg children died today of burns to bring to three the number of youngsters killed when fire destroyed their two-room Perryburg home.

The victims were listed as Frances, Jane Haas, 2; Barbara Jean Haas, 11 months, and their stepbrother, Raymond Compton, 5.

Fire Chief A. G. Williams, of Perryburg, said a passing motorist, Harry Fortney, noticed the fire late yesterday and ran into the burning building where the children had been left alone.

Frances already was dead, according to Chief Williams. He said Fortney found the infant Barbara Jean in her flaming cradle. Raymond was badly burned and unconscious from fumes.

Barbara Jean and Raymond were taken to Toledo hospital, where they succumbed a few hours later.

The mother, Mrs. Dona Haas, according to the police chief, was at work at the time the tragic fire occurred and the father, Harry Haas, was visiting.

Fire Chief Williams expressed a belief that one of three oil stoves in the house exploded, causing the blaze.

ARGENTINA STARTS POLAR EXPEDITION

BUENOS AIRES—(U)—An Argentine expedition to establish claims in the Antarctic was scheduled to leave today aboard the transport Patagonia, a veteran of previous South Pole missions.

Argentine authorities decided hastily to launch the expedition as a result of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's fourth Antarctic mission now in progress.

The Buenos Aires government seeks to establish sovereign rights in the South Polar region, claiming a large slice of territory directly south of the South American continent.

FARM GROUPS MEET

COLUMBUS—(U)—Three farm conferences were being conducted today under the auspices of Ohio State university. A farm and home safety conference and the Ohio Lime conference were being held in downtown Columbus, and a home labor saving show was held on the campus.

Father Fears Convict 'Doped' Missing Co-ed

COLUMBUS—(U)—Prof. E. E. Kimberly expressed fear today that his 20-year-old daughter, missing with a 42-year-old ex-convict, had been "doped."

The Ohio State university instructor, informed of a report that the couple appeared at a Cleveland residence late yesterday and Miss Mary Virginia Kimberly declined to part company with her notorious companion, remarked:

"If that is true, I am convinced that my daughter has been doped."

Meanwhile, police in Ohio and neighboring states intensified their search for the red-haired Ohio State senior and Robert H. Hemming, who disappeared Wednesday afternoon when he called on a pretext of driving her to a friend's home.

An unidentified cousin of Hemming said the couple gave no indication they would follow her advice to return home. Miss Kimberly, appearing friendly and natural, refused to leave the car during Hemming's brief visit, the cousin said.

"This has been a horrible thing for the family," said Sara Hemming, daughter of the hunted man.

Double Tags For Autos Coming Back

Mansfield motorists will sport both front and rear license plates for the first time since 1941 when plates go on sale March 1 at the Richland County Auto club, Jack Berger, secretary, announced today.

The new tags will have white numerals on a dark green background. The 1947 licenses are now on display at the Auto club.

Motorists must have the new tags on automobiles by April 1, Berger said.

Ohio discontinued use of the double tags on autos in 1942 as a means of helping save steel for war purposes.

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MOUNT OLYMPUS—(U)—An expected storm blew itself out with only snow flurries but the command group of the United States Antarctic expedition remained stationary today awaiting a break in the massive Ross ice pack.

With the vessels hove to for 30 hours, Rear Admiral Richard H. Cruzen reconnoitered the area for more than an hour, seeking a "lead, in" towards the Bay of Wales.

The operations commander returned from the helicopter flight with a terse "no change."

Lieut. James Cornish, of Elizabeth, N. Y., who piloted the craft, said the outlook to the south was "grim" but that there were slight indications of openings to the southeast.

Capt. George Kosco, of New Rochelle, N. Y., expedition weather officer, maintained that any abrupt change in the weather or winds could open navigable leads in a matter of minutes.

Despite the delay, scientific operations are continuing at full speed, including weather mapping and the registering of ocean temperatures.

LAUSCHE APPOINTS BELT COLUMBUS

LOS ANGELES—(U)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche yesterday appointed O. C. Belt of Columbus to the four-member state racing commission to succeed Royce Martin of Toledo and serve until June 23, 1949. Both Belt and Martin are Republicans.

Fight Flares Over Seating Of Sen. Bilbo

Eightieth Congress Opens Momentous Session With Republicans Holding Control First Time In 15 Years.

(Compiled From Wire Dispatches)

WASHINGTON—The 80th congress—first controlled by Republicans in 15 years—convened today with the senate in an uproar over seating Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) and the house ready for business.

A new and eventful chapter in American history was begun at 12 noon (EST) when the Republican party assumed control of federal legislation by mandate of the people, given in last November's balloting.

Subject to President Truman's veto power, the GOP will direct the nation's legislative destiny through the 1948 presidential election.

The new senate, now in Republican hands by a margin of six votes, must ratify all peace treaties negotiated by the Truman administration to bring a formal end to World War II.

All eyes were on one man as congress returned to Capitol Hill with its make-up drastically changed. That man was Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo (D., Miss.)

Senate Republican leaders, joined by some Democrats, were determined to bar Bilbo from his seat on charges that he was guilty of improper conduct in relations with war contractors.

The statistical lineup in the new congress is:

Senate—51 Republicans; 45 Democrats.

House—245 Republicans; 187 Democrats; one American Labor; two vacancies.

New Faces Plentiful.

In the senate, there are 17 Republicans and six Democratic freshmen; in the house, there are 74 new Republican and 29 new Democratic members.

The reward of long years of service as house minority leader came today to Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts with election as speaker.

Martin changes places with Sam Rayburn of Texas, who now becomes minority leader in the house. Rayburn accepted that post with a plea that the Democrats in congress "stand together in fundamentals."

Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., whose stature increased last year through his services as a foreign affairs adviser to Secretary of State Eymann in the Big Four peace conferences, became president pro tem of the senate, succeeding Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn.

White Is Leader.

Sen. White (R) Maine, is the new senate majority leader and Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., is majority whip.

Sen. Barkley (D) Ky., faithful servant of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations as senate majority leader, heads the minority in the upper house.

After an often bitter pre-session battle, Rep. Halleck of Indiana was chosen house majority leader, Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Barkley's "opposite number" during the years of Democratic supremacy, leads the house minority.

There is little doubt that red-hot legislative debates will be quickly forthcoming.

Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., planned to introduce, as the first measure to be brought before the new congress, a bill to slash federal income taxes by 20 per cent.

Labor legislation, however, may be treated more cautiously, Sen. Taft (R), Ohio, who asked for the Labor committee chairmanship, a senatorial hot seat, is one of the party's leading—if unannounced—aspirants for the presidency.

Taft is expected to seek a measure which will bridge the nation's industrial chasms without alienating whatever affection labor may have for the GOP.

Many legislators, including such newcomers as Sen. Bricker (R), Ohio, have declared their intention to investigate vigorously in a variety of fields.

The 80th congress is certain to be a session of great debates.

The legislation enacted in the next six months will reflect the rightward swing decreed by the electorate at the polls in November.

And it will write an official end to the New Deal which the late Franklin D. Roosevelt brought to Washington with him 15 years ago.

10 Guests Escape Ohio Hotel Fire

HAMILTON—(U)—Ten guests were routed from their beds and two persons were injured early today when fire flashed through the interior of the Wayside Inn hotel in Hamilton.

The blaze apparently originated about midnight in the restaurant of the three-story, 16-room brick structure. It was discovered by J. T. Roach, 69, of Hamilton, who roomed directly above the restaurant. He awoke to find his bedding afire, and immediately roused all guests and spread the alarm.

THE DEMMYS top the list of humpty-dumpty in flops of 1946. They staggered out of the election tussle with a bruise in every state. But it wasn't the haymakers of their opponents that mowed them down. The Demmels chuckled away the con. elections by not publicly repudiating their Rankins, Bibbos, Wheelers, Marcantorios and other bad ads.

The Louis-Conn tangle was heralded as the battle of the Century. It turned out to be the slowest wait this side of Arthur Murray.

Belittlers of John Roy Carlson's tome, "The Plotters," pulled out every stop in the vituperation routine. And what happened? The public answered by zooming the book into the best-seller heavens.

The Rankin Un-American committee is another fizzle. This group was all sound and fury, shouting and ranting and babbling without coming up with a single worthwhile fact. And what did taxpayers buy with their coin? Deserved headlines for front-page publicity-mad Rankin.

Black marketeers had the Washington honorables doing nip-ups. The legislators huffed and puffed and vowed to hoosegow the gimme artists. But they ended up by knocking the props from under the OPA, and it resulted in making black market fees legal.

Those Atlanta Nazis were riding high until public-spirited citizens and Atlanta newspapermen joined with the forces of law and order to grease the skids for them. The rodents were cornered with their blueprint for treason, and the expozay blasted the outfit to smithereens. Now the frightened stormtroopers are rushing toward the nearest barrister, in the hope of avoiding a long stretch in rat traps.

The sedition trial fiasco. There were many pretty promises by the Justice Dept., but it wound up by floundering in a swamp of petty legalisms. Instead of bringing the alleged subversives to justice—the JD made itself guilty of an injustice by firing the sedition case prosecutor.

The Pearl Harbor inquiry was buried without honors. Some of the die-hard FDR haters were plotting to use the probe for a slander spree against the late president. But after taking inventory of the facts in the case—the investigation went down in history as a waste of time, newspaper space, hard-earned taxes and patience.

The hard peace for Naziland went over with a thud. The Allies hatched a batch of plans to extract the fangs from their conquered foes. But after the last salvo exploded suspicion began to haunt the comrades-in-arms. Fear whisked away hatred of their mutual enemies. And the Allies are now falling over themselves while rushing forward with platters of cheese for the conquered cobras.

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi league, of New York, recently threw itself into prominence as a secret investigating agency which had planted an "operative" as secretary and employed another "undercover" agent in penetrating a secret society in Georgia called the Columbians. The Columbians are described as hostile to Jews and Negroes.

A dispatch from Atlanta said Daniel Duke, assistant attorney general of Georgia, had invited the league to enter the investigation. Inquiry here shows that the league itself is a secretive organization employing sneaks and spies. It decides for itself whether any person or organization is "subversive" and should be "exposed."

The Columbians may be as evil as the dispatches from Atlanta suggest, their extinction may be devoutly desired by all who oppose persecution. Nevertheless, the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi league also claims a right to determine "the practices of all people who have been reported to us as being either engaged in subversive or un-American activities." And such persons could include millions of good citizens who have a right to their privacy and their peace. It was Dorothy Waring, describing herself as "director of investigation for the Anti-Nazi league," who thus stated the league's business at a congressional investigation in 1943. Obviously many innocent Americans might be "reported" to the league by personal enemies or business rivals. That was common experience in Italy and Germany.

IE HAS BEEN related here that Oswald Garrison Villard, one of our landmark liberals in the role of editor and propagandist, was a founding member of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi league, but resigned years ago. Unable to recall exactly why he quit, Mr. Villard nevertheless said he "supposed" it was because he objected to the league venture into personal espionage and boycotts.

James W. Gerard, a Woodrow Wilson Democrat, another founder, also quit the league to repudiate activities not contemplated in the original purpose, which was to oppose the rise of Hitlerism in Europe by propaganda. Mr. Gerard was our ambassador to Germany in the first World War down to our break with the Kaiser. He is remembered for having told some German official, probably Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, that we had a lamp post from which to hang each German spy in the United States.

Having resigned, Mr. Gerard reconsidered and was persuaded to rejoin.

"I resigned again and said publicly that I didn't believe in the boycott as an American instrument," Mr. Gerard said. "No, no, no. We made no investigations when I joined. That is why I resigned. They were attacking American business men. I was present at a meeting at I think the Hotel Diplomat. They had started a boycott of the New York Daily News and I didn't believe in boycotts."

Mr. Gerard said some boycotts were proposed or started against American business firms which had had commerce with German firms. He opposed that as a purpose of the league in deciding to get out for good. But, in the case of the Daily News, he said, there was no suggestion that the paper had had commerce with German or Nazi firms. The boycott, as he understood it, was directed against the paper's editorial policy and he would have no part in such coercion or pressure against editorial freedom.

Like Mr. Villard, Mr. Gerard was emphatic on the point that the league was not intended by its founders to be an investigating body.

Othman On Anything

WASHINGTON—(EP)—A fine book review this is going to be. No book. The authors, dang their argumentative hides, never made the deadline.

For many years it has been my custom to review for the lovers of literature on this day in January that magnificent compendium of wit, humor, high adventure, tragedy and statesmanship (self-writ by the statesmen), the congressional directory.

This volume should have been on the desk of every senator and representative this morning so he could have seen his own literary endeavors in print. It wasn't. No telling when it will be, either, unless the lawmakers take in hand their quill pens (they've got the pens, all right) and scratch down their copy.

Public Printer Augustus E. Giegengack is sitting on his idle printing press, even as many a publisher before him, waiting for his writers to cut out the conversation and turn to the creative muse. He's all set, but how can he print the book when the authors haven't decided who's going to sit on the committees? They haven't even decided what committees there'll be.

PRINTER GIEGENGACK hopes they'll make up their minds and write their prose in time for him to publish the book around the first of next month, maybe. All I know for sure is that the directory of the 80th congress, complete with autobiographies of every lawmaker, will be bound in red, sell for $1.25, and be widely circulated.

It can be used (and has been) for a door-stop, for increasing the height of the baby's chair, and for making up lists of suck—pardon, customers, by the mail order necktie people.

Everything else seems to be set for an auspicious session of congress. The supply department continues to be somewhat embarrassed by a lack of the special black sand that goes into the silver-topped bottles senators are supposed to use when they want to blot their signatures. This sand was a war casualty and it still isn't on the market.

The boys filled the bottles with iron filings, which look like blotter sand, all right, but positively are no good for blotting purposes. They do not absorb ink. They smear it.

THE TWIN BOXES which flank the dais in the senate, I am happy to report, are full to the brim with a fine quality, specially-powdered, aromatic, flue-cured snuff. A Philadelphia tobaccocon, who long has catered to snuff-dipping senators, got in a new shipment barely in time for the opening. And kindly do not sneer at these remarks. Senators do sniff snuff. Or at least some of 'em. They ease over to the snuff box, take a pinch, and slide away.

When caught in the act, they explain that it is good for colds. This I doubt. Having the sniffles because of an unfortunate night spent under an electric blanket, I stole a slug of snuff, but I have not yet noted any therapeutic effect. My nose simply feels tingly.

The furniture movers, who had to shove many of the Republican desks over to the Democratic side of the senate chamber a few years ago, hauled 'em back again. Then they gave each desk, which is a schoolboy model in old mahogany, a good polishing job. The resultant sheen is soft, satiny, and a joy to a housewife's eye.

The ceiling, unhappily, continues to be held up by iron girders, painted gray. Somebody forgot to dust 'em. Ah, well. If the last congress hadn't spent most of the summer arguing, Architect David Lynn would have remodeled the whole joint. He only hopes the 80th congress won't be so talkative. Me, too.

FUND TRUSTEES POSTPONE MEET FOR GRID FETE

The annual meeting of the Mansfield Community Fund association and Community Fund trustees, scheduled for Jan. 13, was postponed today to Jan. 16 to avoid a conflict with the 11th annual News-Journal football banquet.

Fred Hout, president of the Community Fund, said the meeting date was changed because many persons serving on the fund's board and in the agencies planned to attend the banquet.

Two constitution changes are to be voted upon at the meeting. The first would change the name of the central office from Community Fund Chest in compliance with the wishes of the national organization. The second would amend the constitution to provide that no agency may discontinue its service to the public without first giving 30-day notice to the Community Fund.

The association's meeting will be followed by a meeting of the board of trustees, Hout said.

CITY 'BY-PASS' FORUM PLANNED

Invitations to a round table discussion on the problems of highway traffic in and around Mansfield, to be held Jan. 10 at 6:30 p. m. in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, will be issued shortly by the Mansfield County Automobile club, secretary Jack Berger said today.

County commissioners, city officials, the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, representatives of Division of the State Highway department, Ashland, and the press are invited.

Unk discussion will be the traffic problem made by the State Highway department in 1944-45 as to possibility of by-passing Mansfield with U. S. routes numbers 2 and 30 with the purpose in mind of relieving as much as possible the city's traffic congestion.

MERCHANT MARINE OFFERS CADET TESTS

Mansfield high school graduates and seniors were advised today by the U. S. Merchant Marine corps, that applications are being received for entrance examination for cadet midshipmen to the U. S. Merchant Marine cadet corps. The tests will be held April 4, 1947.

The cadet corps maintains basic school at Pass Christian, Miss., San Diego, Calif., and the Academy of Kings Point, N. Y. They offer combined technical training and college education leading to a career at sea and, after sea experience, positions in the shipping industry and its allied activities.

High school seniors scheduled to graduate during May or June may take the examination. Successful candidates will be assigned to a merchant marine basic cadet school during July 1947, pending they are accepted by treaty for appointment as midshipmen, U. S. Naval Reserve.

Kings Point is the first permanent merchant marine academy to be operated by the federal government. On May 11, 1944, congress established a board of visitors to the academy, placing it officially alongside Annapolis, West Point and the Coast Guard academy.

Full information and applications may be secured from the U. S. Merchant Marine corps, U. S. Maritime Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

STILL SMOLDERING—Ruins of the fire at the Flxible company plant at Loudonville still smoldered this morning as the Loudonville fire department continued efforts to extinguish the flames. The building, one of three owned by the company, was almost a total loss except for the main offices at one end. Twisted steel and charred ruins attest to the fierceness of the roaring flames which started about 2:05 p. m. yesterday and caused loss officially estimated at $1,000,000. Marriages, Divorces Set New Marks In County During 1946

Dan Cupid rested a bit in December, 1946, but his efforts during the entire year amounted to the issuance of 1,064 marriage licenses in Richland county, the highest number granted in any year in the county's history.

In December licenses totaled only 77, well under the record 117 registered last June, and two less than in December, 1945.

The 1,064 licenses issued during the entire year exceeded the 1945 total of 685. Cupid's previous best year in Richland county. They represented more than 25 per cent of the 3,994 licenses issued here in the entire decade of 1930-1940, probate court records show.

Meanwhile, the break-up of homes in the county also hit a new high with 717 petitions for divorce, annulment or alimony handled by common pleas court.

They were nearly 50 per cent ahead of 1945 when only 528 petitions were filed and they more than doubled the 1943 total of 317.

The December petitions totaled 36, lowest of the entire year and less than half the highest monthly number of 85 recorded last January. Divorce actions have been diminishing steadily since that record month.

However, the court, as of New Year's day, had 398 cases pending for the January term and 213 of them are divorce or alimony actions. More than 240 cases, both civil and divorce, were disposed of in the September term just ended. Last January there were approximately 425 cases of all types pending at the beginning of the term, Assignment Clerk C. A. McKinley reported.

SALES SLOW ON DOG LICENSES

Sales of dog licenses for 1947 continued to be slow today, with only 2,300 licenses sold to date, according to Norman L. Wolfe, Richland county auditor.

Although the sales period has passed the half-way mark and the deadline is slightly more than two weeks away considerably less than half of the expected 6,500 dog licenses for 1947 have been sold, Wolfe said.

After Jan. 20 the law imposes a penalty of $1 upon the owner of each dog without a license, Wolfe pointed out.

For the first time the county auditor's office this year mailed out cards to all last year's license holders so that licenses could be purchased by mail.

Printed on the cards are forms for listing the age, sex, color, length of hair, and the breed of each dog for which a license is sought. Mailing the completed form and inclosing the correct remittance to the auditor's office at the Richland county courthouse will obtain a license for your dog and make a personal call at the office unnecessary, Wolfe explained.

License fees are $1 for male dogs, $1 for spayed females, and $3 for females, while a charge of $10 is made for a kennel license.

Pedestrian Hit By Automobile

Adis Chins, 40, of 33 Gibson avenue, suffered cuts and bruises early today when he was struck by a car on South Main street, police reported. He was treated at General hospital and released.

Officers said Chins was struck by a car driven by Edward B. Karas, 40, of 221 Fairlawn avenue, at South Park street around 5:45 a. m. He received a cut on the forehead and bruises on the hands and legs, police said.

Karas estimated his speed at the time of the accident at between five and 10 miles an hour. Chins told police he tried to get out of the path of the car but said it kept turning into him and struck him just before he reached the curb.

CARDS FOR KIDDIES—Those attractive Christmas cards that collect in such quantities that they finally land in the waste basket will give the kiddies at the Children's home many happy hours. M. V. Rutherford, sales manager of the Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company, suggested today that Mansfielders bundle up their cards and send or deliver them to the Home, 259 Hedges street. Rutherford, who said he was sending 300 of his own Yule cards to the children, added that he offered the idea to Mrs. J. L. Houston, matron, and she indicated the youngsters would have a fine time cutting out the pictures on the greetings.

HUNTERS STILL BUSY—Although there is no money currently available to pay bounties on foxes, the country's hunters continue to take the feet of slain Reynard into the sheriff's office in hopes there will be funds later. On New Year's day Nathaniel Burrage, 7 Grandview avenue, deposited the feet of a grey fox he killed in Weller township and the day before C. W. Schaffer, Mansfield, R. D. 4, left the paws of two red foxes. The same day Clarence T. Fries, Shelby, turned in the feet of a red fox. Their animals brought to 570 the number killed since the $3 bounty was begun. The law permitting payment of bounties expires March 31 and the sheriff's department is accepting fox paws for later payment in case the county commissioners make another appropriation.

Scouts Brave Cold to Sleep Out-of-Doors

After braving the near zero weather at Geib's woods near Mifflin lake, where they were encamped the first three days of this week, 20 hardy Boy Scouts from Mansfield's Troop 18 were toasting themselves comfortably at home today.

Although the Scouts slept in tents or in the open, their down-filled sleeping bags kept them comfortably warm at night. Reflectors, fires, improvised wind-breaks, "stick beds," and other camping devices helped them to combat the frigid temperatures. All cooking was done out-of-doors over open fires.

Biggest disappointment to the scouts was the absence of a heavy snow.

Eagle Scout Harry Wilmoth was in charge of the camp. Other campers were Chuck Watts, Ken McCally, Irvin Elsas, Floyd Foster, Ned Fort, Jim Welker, Jim Ogden, Jim Handley, Bob George, Frank Plaut, Tom Plaut, Tom Goodheart, Leon Weekley, Duane Weekley, Bill Wilmoth, Bill Yarger, Norm Yarger, and Chuck Jones.

Marriages, Divorces Set New Marks In County During 1946

Dan Cupid rested a bit in December, 1946, but his efforts during the entire year amounted to the issuance of 1,064 marriage licenses in Richland county, the highest number granted in any year in the county's history.

In December licenses totaled only 77, well under the record 117 registered last June, and two less than in December, 1945.

The 1,064 licenses issued during the entire year exceeded the 1945 total of 685. Cupid's previous best year in Richland county. They represented more than 25 per cent of the 3,994 licenses issued here in the entire decade of 1930-1940, probate court records show.

Meanwhile, the break-up of homes in the county also hit a new high with 717 petitions for divorce, annulment or alimony handled by common pleas court.

They were nearly 50 per cent ahead of 1945 when only 528 petitions were filed and they more than doubled the 1943 total of 317.

The December petitions totaled 36, lowest of the entire year and less than half the highest monthly number of 85 recorded last January. Divorce actions have been diminishing steadily since that record month.

However, the court, as of New Year's day, had 398 cases pending for the January term and 213 of them are divorce or alimony actions. More than 240 cases, both civil and divorce, were disposed of in the September term just ended. Last January there were approximately 425 cases of all types pending at the beginning of the term, Assignment Clerk C. A. McKinley reported.

SALES SLOW ON DOG LICENSES

Sales of dog licenses for 1947 continued to be slow today, with only 2,300 licenses sold to date, according to Norman L. Wolfe, Richland county auditor.

Although the sales period has passed the half-way mark and the deadline is slightly more than two weeks away considerably less than half of the expected 6,500 dog licenses for 1947 have been sold, Wolfe said.

After Jan. 20 the law imposes a penalty of $1 upon the owner of each dog without a license, Wolfe pointed out.

For the first time the county auditor's office this year mailed out cards to all last year's license holders so that licenses could be purchased by mail.

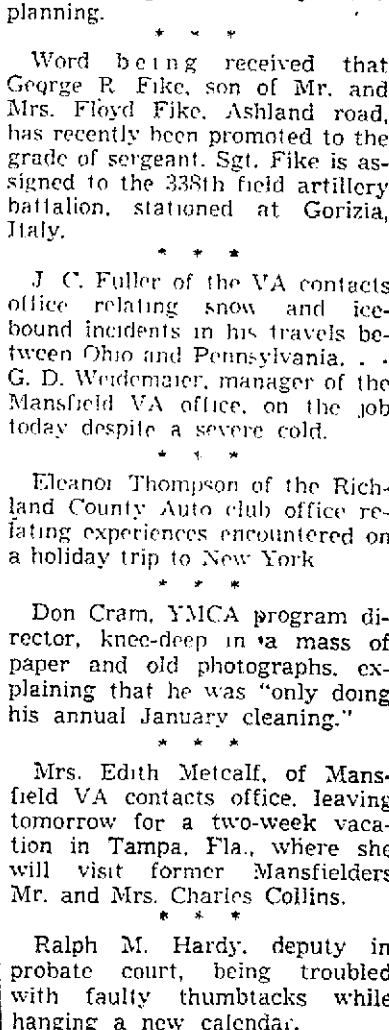

Printed on the cards are forms for listing the age, sex, color, length of hair, and the breed of each dog for which a license is sought. Mailing the completed form and inclosing the correct remittance to the auditor's office at the Richland county courthouse will obtain a license for your dog and make a personal call at the office unnecessary, Wolfe explained.

License fees are $1 for male dogs, $1 for spayed females, and $3 for females, while a charge of $10 is made for a kennel license.

RIISING AUTO MISHAP TOLL WORRIES CITY

1946 Accident Total Hits Highest Figure In Five Years.

Mansfield's auto accident toll surged beyond pre-war levels last year and Traffic Commissioner Friend C. Boals today said he is aiming at stricter law enforcement in 1947 in an effort to stem the tide.

Last year, six persons were killed and 201 injured in auto accidents in the city. This is the highest toll in five years. In 1941—the last pre-war year—four were killed and 196 injured. In 1945 four were killed and 158 injured.

Auto accidents were more serious in 1946, too, Boals said. This, despite the fact that traffic arrests were nearly double that of any year since 1941.

There were almost as many traffic arrests in 1946 as there were accidents.

"But apparently we're going to have to step up the rate," Boals declared.

Arrest Per Accident.

Police records show 999 accidents last year as compared to 940 arrests. In 1942 there were 912 accidents but only 512 arrests. In 1945 the ratio was 862 to 507.

Boals said the major target of the traffic department will be motorists who ignore stop signs. Arrests for that violation in 1946 nearly tripled the '45 total. "But it still should be improved," the commissioner declared.

He singled out as one of the prime causes of accidents those drivers who dash onto through-highways without stopping. Elderly persons and children suffered the heaviest last year. Of the six persons killed, four were between 55 and 74. Of the 201 persons injured, 65 were under 18.

School Safety Needed.

The child toll climbed steadily during the war years, Boals said, indicating a need for the quick re-opening of school safety councils. First meetings since the war are to be held this month.

From 1942 to 1946 the number of children injured has risen from 34 to last year's high of 65.

The traffic department's hit-skip record for 1946 is good, Boals said. Of the 73 accidents of that type reported, the department solved 55. They included mishaps ranging from minor "fender-benders" types to those in which persons were killed.

Of the 940 arrests made by the department last year, 243 were of motorists who crashed red lights and 123 were for stop-sign violations. The balance included, principally, arrests for speeding, unsafe operation and driving while intoxicated.

BANKS' ANNUAL MEETINGS SET

Annual directors' meetings of Mansfield banks and loan companies for the selection of 1947 officers will get underway Saturday with the Richland Trust company's meeting at 2 p. m.

Other bank meetings include Farmers' Savings and Trust company, Jan. 8, at 3 p. m.; Citizens National Bank and Trust company, Jan. 14, and Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, Jan. 14.

Under federal law, no national bank can hold its annual meeting before Jan. 13.

Loan company meetings will be held Jan. 6 for the Mansfield Building and Loan company; Jan. 7 for the Mechanics' Building and Loan company, and Jan. 11 for the Citizens' Savings and Loan company.

MILLION TOPPED; MORE COMING IN

Higher prices and increased buying, coupled with the return or increased availability of many manufactured items last year, combined to boost sales tax receipts in Richland county to $1,104,411.23 for 1946 by the week ended Dec. 31, Don H. Ebricht, state treasurer, reported today.

That figure exceeded collections by the corresponding date in 1945 by $365,212.77. The total then was $739,198.37.

Retail sales in the county during the week ended Dec. 21, brought the state $35,897.10 in taxes compared with the $22,306.71 total for the similar week in 1945.

Time Comes For Adopting Ethics Code

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The time has come, in the avowed belief of Western conference Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson for colleges to adopt a standard code of athletic ethics.

Terming the forthcoming New York meeting of the National Athletic association "the most important in the history of the NCAA," Wilson declared: "We have reached the crossroads. The colleges can either level off and operate as they should, or they may get into trouble. We must set up a policy whereby a kid will choose a school for its educational value, rather than the school choosing a kid for his athletic ability."

Colleges, he said, have prospered under true amateur operation and must continue to follow that pattern. "If we don't, we invade the professional field, where we don't belong," he declared.

His predecessor, the late Maj. John Griffith, once sent out a form letter to most of the college presidents in the country, outlining his views on threatened professionalism and asking for opinions on what should be done to correct abuses. The presidents displayed little interest, Wilson recalled.

"He received only 28 replies," Wilson continued. "Recently I received nearly 200 replies. This shows that college presidents now are aware of the problem and are determined to take action where needed."

Title Grapple Match Signed

Mansfield's first championship wrestling match in many months will be staged in the Armory ring next Wednesday, Earl Myers, local mat impresario, announced today.

The title bout brings Johnny Demchuk, long a Mansfield favorite, and his crown back to the scene of some of his more hair-pulling performances. Demchuk has held the junior-heavyweight belt for a long spell, and has survived several title goes in the Armory ring.

Demchuk will defend his championship against Ken Mayne, one of the scientific mat gentry. Mayne has been going great guns in Ohio mat circles. In his last appearance before a Mansfield crowd, Texas Ken surprised by defeating former champion Frankie Talaber.

Mayne was to have battled John Cretonia, Norwalk, in the show that was cancelled last Wednesday because of the icy conditions of the roads and streets. The championship bout will have a 90-minute time limit and will be two-of-three falls.

Madison Rams Go After Fourth In Row Tonight

Mansfield Madison will be after its fourth straight victory tonight when it travels to Willard. The Rams fell before Mt. Vernon in the seasonal opener and then found their stride against Shelby, 31 to 23. The Shelby quintet is the current leader of the Northern Ohio Basketball league of which Willard is a member.

Jeff DeHaven's lads added wins over Loudonville, 42 to 18, and Lexington, 39 to 37 for their present enviable record. Madison has averaged better than a point-a-minute (34.5) while the opposition has marked up a 33.3 average.

Willard sent Madison down a pair of defeats last season, the second being by a 26 to 25 margin. Two lettermen of DeHaven's 1945-46 club—Herb Eldridge and Dick Ennsberger—want a little revenge for those twin defeats.

Eldridge and Ennsberger, the former will captain the Rams tonight, are getting plenty of help from Eldon Pritchard this season. In fact, the junior star is leading the Madison points gatherers with a fancy 13.8 average a game.

Pritchard has dumped home 26 field goals and three gratis tosses in the Rams' four games. Eldridge comes in next with 35 points while Ennsberger has contributed 25. Herbie connected for 29 points in the last pair of games.

Bob Wilson, center and Dick Poth, guard will complete DeHaven's starting lineup for tonight's battle.

The Rams worked out Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday of this week but enjoyed an off day yesterday.

Coach Bill Kopical's Madison reserve squad will also be after its fourth win in a row in the preliminary tussle.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Coach Tippey Dye sought to instill scoring punch in his Ohio State basketball team today as the Bucks readied themselves for their first Western conference engagement of the season.

The Bucks meet Minnesota's Gophers at the state fairground Coliseum tomorrow after losing four straight games on a West Coast sortie.

It will be Ohio State's second home game. They opened their season with a narrow victory over Pittsburgh at the Coliseum. A principal factor in the Bucks' defection against Washington and California was inability of Centers Jack Underman and Jack Pfeiffer to score. Underman, prominently mentioned by All-Big Nine selectors a year ago, was particularly ineffectual.

Pfeiffer seemed likely today to get the starting call, but it was possible Dye would experiment at the pivot post by switching Les Pugh from forward or Bobby Bowen from guard.

Winter Links Circuit Opens

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Promised clear skies and perfect playing conditions, a field of 130 golfers tee off today on the first 18 holes of the $10,000 Los Angeles open, opening the winter links circuit in California.

Play once again was at the Riviera Country club, a par 35-71 course, where Byron Nelson last year capped first money with a 72-hole total of 284, even par, five strokes ahead of Ben Hogan, who figured to lead the field for the $2,000 top prize this year.

Ranking contenders were Sam Snead, the British open champion, Lloyd Mangrum, the U. S. national open king, Chick Harbert, the Michigan belter, Jimmy Demaret from Texas, and leading the amateurs was Smiley Quick of Los Angeles, national public links titleholder.

Butler's Clash With Bellville Still on Tap

Although three other county league basketball games have been postponed, the "battle of the year" between Butler and Bellville will go on as scheduled on the Butler floor tonight.

Officials postponed the Plymouth-Ontario, Lucas-Lexington and Shiloh-Union games late yesterday because of the icy condition of the roads. The Lexington-Lucas contest on the former team's floor has been rescheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Butler can practically wrap up the 1946-47 county banner with a victory over Bellville. However, the Blue Jays have quite a record as "spoilers" this season and may throw the race wide open again.

Coach Ed Wysocki's quintet has won six straight games and averaged 48.3 points per contest. Bellville has won five of six tilts, losing only to Lucas, 31 to 28. Coach Orv Kibler's Blue Jays have now won four in a row.

Reserve teams will clash in the prelim at 7:30 p. m. Supt. Eugene Ryder looks for the largest crowd in Butler history to view the contest.

Mary McMullen and Margaret Moxley won the '46 doubles crown with 1141 while Sue Humphrey rolled 571 for single honors. Sue Humphrey rolls tomorrow at 2 p. m. with the defending doubles champs going on Jan. 12.

Mrs. Moxley copped the all-events "scratch" title for the second straight time last year with a 1523 while Marguerite Ginner took the all-events handicap trophy with 1577.

CHINESE AGAIN VOICE PROTEST AGAINST U. S.

Students March to American Embassy in Nanking.

NANKING —(INS)—Anti-American feeling among Nanking students flared anew today when more than 3,000 again marched into the American embassy.

The demonstration, in protest to the alleged rape of a Peiping student by two U. S. Marines, followed a similar one in Nanking yesterday.

In the latest outburst, the students swarmed into the embassy grounds and pasted and scribbled slogans on the embassy walls.

The slogans declared: "Bloody beasts—go home."

The students demonstrated noisily outside the embassy shouting abuse to any American who showed himself. Inside, Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart received a delegation in the embassy reception room.

A spokesman, from Nanking's large Central University and National School of Arts, demanded punishment of the marines involved in the alleged assault. He also demanded immediate withdrawal of American troops from China and a full apology to the whole Chinese people.

After demonstrating for more than an hour, the students left the embassy.

A few minutes later, First Marine Division Commander Maj. Gen. Samuel Howard, arrived at the embassy for a tea party attended by other American and foreign guests. The American general stopped at the embassy en route home to the United States.

Feelings of the students against the Americans ran much higher today than in yesterday's demonstration.

Almost all of Nanking's police force was called out to keep Americans away from the route of march.

Excited students mobbed every American car they saw, scribbling and pasting slogans on them.

As the hostility heightened, Chinese police kept foreign correspondents under protective guard.

As students reportedly were preparing to demonstrate to Chungking and other cities, American authorities in Nanking expressed alarm at the Chinese delay in announcing the results of their investigations into the alleged assault.

Barclay On Bridge

CARNAGE wreaked by little cards against top honors, when there is a freakish distribution, is the bridge version of David versus Goliath. The classic act is usually put on in the trump theater, as the No Trump stage is better adapted to the histrionics of the heavier actors. In the suit show, David gets plenty of room to use his slingshot, made up of long strings of cards with only an honor or two tied to the end.

At several duplicate tables, where the bidding went along the lines shown, it stopped with East at either 4-Hearts or 5-Hearts. In all of those cases the contract got made, with the loss of just one trick in clubs and one by a ruff of a club, despite the five hearts held by North, who refused to disclose their location by doubling.

Where the spade sacrifice effort was made, the most spectacular result was North's success with his contract. This occurred at a couple of tables, where East led his heart K. It was ruffed, the club A brought a discard of the MIRAQULO the Masked Marvel, known to his friends as Mike Shrivowitz, parked his 394-pound carcass wearily onto the doctor's couch and moaned, "Oh, Doc, what happened to me shouldn't happen to a referee."

"What went wrong?" said the doctor.

"I was wrestling the Mighty Nabisco," said Miraquilo. "We were all mixed up in the middle of the ring. I wasn't getting none the better of it."

"Suddenly a leg stares me in the face and I says to myself, 'Mike here's your chance.' So I takes a healthy bite out of it."

"Wasn't that against the rules?" said the doctor.

Farley Boom Seen

NEW YORK —(AP)—The New York Daily News reports that a movement to boom James A. Farley, former postmaster general, as President Truman's vice-presidential running mate in 1948 "will be openly launched at the Jefferson Day dinner here, sometime in April." Farley declined comment.

Benjamin Franklin once was showing some visitors the sights of Philadelphia, when a group of Quakers sauntered by. "I've never seen costumes like that," remarked one visitor. "Who are those people?" "Quakers," said Franklin. "What do they believe?" asked the visitor. Franklin answered promptly. "They believe in six per cent compound interest."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

GOP WILL RULE OPERATIONS OF OHIO ASSEMBLY

Legislature Faces Long List of Controversial Items.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Legislative leaders were laying plans today for a short "business like" session of the 97th Ohio general assembly which meets here Monday through with Republicans.

House Speaker C. William O'Neill, R., Marietta, disclosed that after the two houses convene at 1:30 p. m. he will attempt to meet with senate leaders and the governor-elect to chart a legislative program.

Long Session Possible.

Although solons hope for a short regular session, the impressive list of subjects certain to come up for consideration indicates the session may last six months.

Included in the list are such controversial items as state aid to local government and schools, taxes, a veterans' pension, strip mining, unification of the state conservation services, fair employment and unemployment legislation and anti-unionism.

Rep. Paul McCormick, R., Logan, majority floor leader, said the lower house would take the initiative if necessary in a movement to speed necessary legislation through the assembly.

"The best legislative session is a short session," McCormick said in discussing the coming meeting. O'Neill announced at a press conference in his state house office that he was putting in final work on the job of selecting committee members and chairmen and organizing the schedule for the first week of the regular session.

He said the first week's sessions, in which a partial appropriations bill must be passed, would probably last until Thursday. The partial bill provides funds for payment of the salaries of state employees and continuing state subsidies.

Raises Question.

One of the questions which must be decided is who will have the privilege of opening the first house session. The problem led to a flurry of discord in the Republican caucus on Dec. 4.

In 1945 the legislature took that job away from the secretary of state and provided that the oldest ranking member of the house in consecutive years of service would be given the honor since he had graciously bowed out of the picture when Hayden made known a desire to preside over the caucus.

The question was not decided but regardless of who opens the session and whether or not it is publicly aired, a shadow of discord will hang over the first house session.

ORDINANCE NO. 46-273
By Mr. Stewart.

Determining to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer on Reform street from Beethoven street to Luther street and south therefrom in an easement to Inlet No. 11,976, Mansfield.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO, three-fifths of all members elected thereto concurring: Section 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer on Reform street from Beethoven street to Luther street and south therefrom in an easement to Inlet No. 11,976, Mansfield, according to plans and specifications now on file in the office of the City Engineer and in accordance with Resolution 46-205, passed October 22, 1946.

Section 2. That the cost of said improvement, less two per cent thereof shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits which may result from said improvement upon the following lots and lands, all lots and lands abutting and abutting upon proposed improvement, not already assessed for sanitary sewer, which lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the cost of purchasing and other surveys, printing and publishing of notices, Resolutions and Ordinances required and the sealing of said notices, the cost of construction together with interest on moneys and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.

Section 3. That the assessments to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof, provided that the owner of any property assessed may at his option pay such assessment in cash within thirty days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

Section 4. That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Section 5. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed herein shall be paid out of the General Fund from which there is hereby appropriated the sum of $50.00 dollars, for the payment of the City's share of the cost.

Section 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to execute a contract for said improvement or procure labor and materials for the completion of same in a manner provided by law.

Section 7. That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after the earliest time allowed by law.

Passed Dec. 28, 1946.
Attest: CHARLES J. STECKLER,
Clerk of Council.
Signed: W. BRADFORD,
President of Council.

Conduct Final Services for Ex-Editor, 80

ATTICA—Funeral services for George Clifford Lake, veteran 80-year-old editor and publisher of the Attica Hub, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Chilcote funeral home.

Services will be conducted by Rev. J. F. Mohr. Burial will be in Attica cemetery.

Lake, who retired recently after 60 years in the newspaper business, died New Year's day in Bucyrus City hospital. He had been ill for 10 days.

Known to his community for his wit and philosophy, Lake used to print a line under the Hub's masthead that proclaimed: "Published ostensibly in the interest of Attica, but in reality for the benefit of the editor and his family."

A veteran of the days of hand-set type, Lake never abandoned the old system for the modern linotype. He learned the printing trade as a lad and did not become an editor until he founded the Hub in 1896.

He is survived by two sons, Ferris Lake of Miami, Fla., and Vaughn Lake of Bucyrus; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Bohn of Willard, Mrs. Howard Hiteshew of Gray Lake, and Mrs. Richard O. Young of Bucyrus; 10 grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

CHARLES C. CLY
MILLERSBURG—Funeral services for Charles C. Cly, 73, who died in Akron Wednesday, will be held at the Elliott funeral home here at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Brief services will also be held in Akron at 7:30 p. m. today, then the body will be brought to the funeral home here.

Mr. Cly, a native of Holmes county, is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; one daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Wilcox of Akron; two grandchildren and one brother, C. W. Cly of Cleveland.

MRS. DELLA GRIMES
WILLARD—Mrs. Della Grimes, 78, a native of Willard, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clifton Smith, in Columbus last night.

Mrs. Grimes was born in Willard and had lived in this vicinity until 1925 when she and her husband, O. E. Grimes, moved to Canal Winchester. Recently they moved again to Columbus and were visiting at the home of the daughter when Mrs. Grimes became ill.

Surviving besides the husband and the daughter, Mrs. Smith, is one son, J. E. Grimes of Canal Winchester; five grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. John Feininger of Willard.

Services will be held at the Grimes funeral home in Canal Winchester Sunday evening. Later the body will be brought to New Haven cemetery, near Willard where burial services will be held Monday at 1 p. m.

WILLIAM A. RICHEY
MILLERSBURG — William A. Richey, 55, a resident of Jeffersonville, Ind., died unexpectedly at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Young last night. Death was due to a heart attack.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. Young, he is survived by his wife, Ella, who had also been visiting at the Young home; two other daughters, Mrs. Frank Smith of Charleston, Ind., and Mrs. Alfred Zinnmeister of Jeffersonville; and his mother of Jeffersonville.

The body is at the Hunter Funeral home here awaiting the arrival of the two daughters from Indiana.

WARD S. BLAYNEY
MT. GILEAD—Ward Sylvester Blayney, 48, died suddenly of a heart attack at 2 a. m. this morning at his home in Mt. Gilead.

Born Sept. 25, 1898, in Morrow county, he had been employed for the past 30 years by the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing company in Mt. Gilead.

Surviving are his wife, Grace, a daughter, Eileen, both of Mt. Gilead; a son, Richard of Galion; his father, LeRoy of Marion; a brother, Donald of Mansfield; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Ashbaugh of Columbus.

Mr. Blayney was a member of the Baptist church and Eagles lodge. Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Cravens funeral home.

WILLIAM A. MILLER
GALION—William A. Miller, 79, residing four miles south of Galion, died Thursday afternoon at his home after an illness of one year.

A native of Morrow county, he was born Jan. 29, 1867. He was married May 14, 1891, to Mattie R. Garverick, who survives.

Besides his wife, he leaves the following children: Mrs. C. E. Shumaker, Carl Miller, Reed Miller, Mrs. Clarence Merwine, Mrs. Oris Rinehart, Clarence Miller, Mrs. Kenneth Stetter and LeRoy Miller, all of Galion, and vicinity, and Mrs. Robert Rinehart of Lexington. Also surviving are 34 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren, one brother, Roy Miller of Galion, and two sisters, Mrs. Harriett Logan and Mrs. J. E. Brown, both of Galion.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Ebenezer Methodist church, south of Galion. He was employed as a machinist in the old Erie shops in Galion until 1900 when he turned to farming.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Volk funeral home, in charge of Rev. Kunze of Blooming Grove. Burial will be in Ithaca cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

VET INSURANCE FIGURES CLIMB

Mansfield veterans pushed government life insurance figures in the area to new heights in December, officials at the Mansfield subregional office of the Veterans' Administration said today.

With a total of $661,000 of insurance reinstated and $321,000 converted from term insurance to one of the other six forms of insurance offered by the government, many veterans beat the Feb. 1 deadline after which a physical examination can be required for re-instatement of policies.

December figures showed a substantial increase over November.

AMVETS DISCUSS POST AUXILIARY

Initial steps were taken at the meeting of the Robert P. Spreng post 26, American Veterans of World War II last night to form a women's auxiliary to the post, it was reported today. The meeting was held in the Memorial building.

Appointed to the committee to contact wives, mothers and sisters of World War II veterans, were Fred Tonnemacher and James P. Gills, jr.

William Bechtler presented tentative plans for another semi-formal Amvet dance to be held sometime during February. The date will be set later.

Charles A. Boughton reported on progress of the Amvet membership drive which began Jan. 1. An announcement of an executive committee meeting scheduled for 8 p. m., Jan. 15, in the Memorial building was made.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 16, with the first scheduled Sunday meeting to be held Jan. 26. Both meetings will be at 8 p. m.

CHURCH HAS NOTE BURNING CEREMONY

GALION—Burning of the note which cancelled the debt on the church edifice was featured at the annual meeting of the congregation of the Church of Christ, New Year's eve.

W. G. Kidney, elder emeritus of the church, who with the late Mrs. Kidney, were the original purchasers of the lot in 1900 where the church now stands, assisted in the ceremony.

While F. H. Craner, chairman of the church council, held the note suspended by a string, Mr. Kidney and J. B. Robinson applied candles to opposite ends of the note, and ashes were caught in a silver tray. The ashes will be buried in the Kidney flower garden.

Rev. W. J. Keener of the Bucyrus Church of Christ, former pastor of the church, gave a talk. The business session was in charge of F. H. Craner when all officers were re-elected, with the exception of Austin Thompson who resigned as treasurer.

The vacancy was filled by the election of John Hahn. Rev. W. R. Ellis, pastor of the church, presided for the social time later in the evening.

80TH CONGRESS PUTS IN FORCE MANY CHANGES

Body Revises Procedure For Modernization.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The 80th congress will place in effect today the most drastic changes in decades in its rules and legislative procedure in a move to modernize itself.

It was considered practically certain that the LaFollette-McConey reorganization act approved by the last congress would become operative with the convening of the new congress.

The new rules automatically go into effect in the senate when that body convenes at noon. The house must pass a resolution approving them before they begin to function there.

Rep. Martin (R) Mass., new speaker, declared that "we're going to give it a try" after the Republican caucus rejected a suggestion that major changes be made in the act. Martin said only technical revision was contemplated now.

The streamlining act makes these major changes:

1. Reduces senate committees from 33 to 15 and house committees from 48 to 19.
2. Consolidates the senate and house military and naval affairs committees into committees on the armed services.
3. Increases the pay of representatives and senators from $10,000 a year to $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 tax-free annual expense allowance.
4. Increases the pay of the speaker of the house and the vice president from $15,000 to $20,000 a year.
5. Establishes a retirement system for members of congress, effective when a member has served six years and has reached the age of 62, less for disability.
6. Removes from congress the task of legislating on private claims against the government and places it in the hands of federal agencies and courts.
7. Another provision requiring registration of lobbyists became effective with enactment of the law last Aug. 2.

The act provides also that two houses shall adjourn each year no later than the last day of July unless otherwise provided by congress.

Red Writer Finds Americans 'Gay'

MOSCOW—(AP)—Victor Poltoratsky, back from New York, told his "Izvestia" readers today that Americans in the mass were "gay, sociable, hard-working people who in spite of all newspaper propaganda have a sympathetic attitude toward the Soviet people."

Poltoratsky, the Russian government newspaper's special correspondent at the United Nations general assembly, reported that New York streets were dirty, that he had trouble getting trousers standardized.

NEW HOLY LAND TROUBLES LOOM

JERUSALEM—(AP)—The threat of new violence hung over the Holy Land after Irgun Zvai Leumi, rejecting an American congressman's plea for a truce, promised unremitting "warfare" to achieve its goal of a free Palestine.

Irgun's action coincided with the verdict of a military court condemning a member of the Jewish underground organization to a term of imprisonment for participating in an attack on a police station in which two police officers were killed April 23.

The promise of continued strife was contained in a note transmitted to newspapers by Irgun leaders in a reply to a message from U. S. Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin (R-NY), published last Saturday in the Palestine Post. Baldwin, administrative chairman of the political action committee for Palestine, asked Irgun to "halt operations in the Holy Land until have acquainted the American government and people with your fight and the fight of Jewry at large."

Irgun thanked Baldwin for his help in the campaign to free Palestine, but declared that "nothing must stop our fight."

FRENCH STORES CUTTING PRICES

PARIS—(INS)—Large department stores and food shops in Paris were responding in support today of Premier Leon Blum's appeal for a five per cent reduction of general prices as a weapon against inflation.

Food chain stores and the larger department stores were publicizing their slashed prices and the manager of one large food market announced a 10 per cent reduction.

The action of the major stores was expected to influence smaller shopkeepers to comply with the campaign. Many of the shops have not yet had time to post their new prices and the full determination of the reaction to the premier's appeal is not yet possible.

Business Hits Peak In 1946

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Last year witnessed the highest levels of peacetime business activity in the nation's history, Ray M. Gidney, president of the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland, says.

In a year-end statement, he declared businessmen and bankers were entering a period that would call for "exercise of the highest quality of business and financial statesmanship."

"The goal which faces us in 1947 is that of maintaining a flow of goods and services to our people and the peoples of the world so as to contribute to the further advance of material well-being."

He predicted that building this year would cause older housing units to lose any premium which they now command.

Court Fear Leads To Murder, Suicide

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(UP)—Authorities believed today fear that his subordinate was incriminating him before a grand jury investigating gambling caused Police Chief O. N. Martin, 51, to kill Lieut. O. F. Deubler, 31, Wednesday with a riot gun, then commit suicide.

They said his fear was unfounded. Friends of Martin said he had been brooding for some time over the possibility of his indictment by the grand jury and had threatened the lives of various county and city officials.

WHITESBURG, Ky.—(AP)—Police of eastern Kentucky and southwestern Virginia continued their search today for Juanita Hogg, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hogg of Whitesburg, missing from her home since Dec. 7.

Hogg fears his daughter may have met with foul play. He described her as five feet, four inches tall, weighing 115 pounds, brown-haired and black-eyed.

U. S. SEEKING ATOM HEARING

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—United Nations spokesmen predicted today that American efforts to get an immediate hearing in the security council on the Baruch vetoless atomic control plan would be successful.

Advance indications are that in a showdown vote, a sufficient majority is assured among the 11-nation delegates to give first consideration to the United States resolution and push Russia's demand for immediate steps on universal disarmament into second place.

The strongest argument in the hands of the American delegation in sponsoring their resolution for priority on atomic control is that the commission's report includes the general assembly's universal disarmament provision.

American official sources, while conceding the Russian viewpoint that control of atomic energy and disarmament in many respects are "one package" and cannot be divorced, maintain that the Soviet procedure puts the cart before the horse.

Heavy attacks launched in the Moscow newspapers and radio on Bernard M. Baruch were interpreted here as foreshadowing full-fledged opposition by Russia at the next meeting Monday to the United States resolution made public on Dec. 31.
In this resolution, to be formally submitted to the council but already placed on the agenda, the United States urges that the atomic energy commission's report—which includes the Baruch vetoless inspection and control plan—be given top priority.

TOTAL OF PAY CLAIMS NEARS BILLION MARK

Justice Department Moves To Enter Controversy.

(By Associated Press)
Filing of portal to portal retroactive wage suits by labor unions against industry hit a new high for one day yesterday and pushed the total claims now being sought to near the three billion dollar mark.

Actions were filed in federal courts in at least 20 cities for claims of more than $855,000,000 and an unofficial grand total for all suits on file climbed more than $2,712,000,000.

The CIO United Auto Workers' union led the unions in total back pay claims for employees in suits filed in Michigan for $410,000,000 from the Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. The new actions brought to $507,000,000 the total sought from the "Big Three" of the automotive industry. The CIO-UAW said suits seeking $32,210,000 were being filed against Ford outside of Michigan.

With the number of suits mounting steadily, at least one firm moved to counter-attack. Damages of $15,000,000 were asked in Federal District court in Pittsburgh yesterday by the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. after $6,000,000 was sought in retroactive wages by members of the Auto union.

The company said it was seeking to recover losses suffered as the result of alleged slow-downs.

Evans said the company previously had made no complaint regarding slow-downs.

U. S. Enters Fight.

As the new actions brought the total nearer the three billion dollar mark and closer to the five to six billion dollar total predicted by industrial and congressional leaders, the justice department asked federal court permission to enter the portal pay controversy. In Washington, Attorney General Tom Clark offered his aid in settling some of the legal questions involved in the Mt. Clemens, Mich., pottery company case, which started the avalanche of portal pay suits. Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, whose decision granting the pottery workers the right to back pay for time required to go from time clock to work bench was upheld by the Supreme court, indicated he would agree to government intervention.

VIC RECORDS TRANSFERRED

All the records of the Mansfield Veterans' Information Center, which was closed Dec. 31, have been officially transferred to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief commission, an official of the board of trustees said today.

Persons who had been contacting the VIC, or who wish to check their records further, are requested to get in touch with the commission, located in the basement of the Memorial building, or the social agency to which they may have been referred by the VIC.

The VIC was established in October, 1945, as a referral center. At a meeting of the board of trustees, held Dec. 13, it was decided to close the center as of Dec. 31, due to the decrease in

Lima Police Chief Ordered Demoted

LIMA—(UP)—Lima's police chief has been ordered demoted to patrolman effective Jan. 9 by Mayor William L. Ferguson, who charged him with "incompetency, inefficiency and failure of good behavior."

The accusations were in an order sent to the Lima civil service board, to which Police Chief Kermit L. Westbay may appeal. The removal order was the latest step in a year-long investigation. Westbay declined comment.

ALBANIA FACES U. N. COMPLAINT

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(UP)—Great Britain's complaint that Albania is an international troublemaker will go to the United Nations security council in a few days, officials indicated today.

At a signal from London, British delegates were prepared to ask the council to take action against the Albanian government, a protégé of Soviet Russia. Specifically, the British are indignant over the explosion of Albanian mines last October in the Corfu Straits of the Adriatic. Forty-one British sailors on two British destroyers were killed in the explosion and several others were injured.

The British delegation reportedly was anxious that the council find Albania responsible for a "situation" likely to endanger lives in the never-quiet Balkans. However, there were rumors that the United States considered the matter to be chiefly a legal situation which should go to the international court of justice for an opinion.

Tut, tut, it's entirely too soon to forget about that New Year's resolution.

Cosmic rays are important scientifically, but less interesting than a friend around the corner.

Even if those Christmas savings checks include no interest they provide a nice way of being sure to have a little principal laid by.

End of 'Cheap Money' Era May Be Next

THERE ARE GROWING indications that the "cheap money" era is coming to an end. Strange as it seems now, that era in which your money was gradually made worth less and less in earning power—and buying power—was a direct outgrowth of the depression.

At the beginning of the Roosevelt administration money was "expensive." A little of it went a long way, in buying power. But very few people had a great deal of it. Interest rates were high.

Because money was expensive and because consumer demand was low, resulting in idle industry, the first Roosevelt administration reasoned that the thing to do was make money cheap. This was done with a vengeance. By April of 1946 government bonds had advanced to record high prices and interest rates had reached unheard of low levels. Widows with a small nest-egg to invest found that they could get only a pittance of income from their investment. From the standpoint of earnings, there was practically no incentive for the "little fellow" to build up a savings account in his bank. It earned him little. It was just a safe place to keep his money.

Scores of businesses took advantage of the situation to refund securities at lower cost.

After April, bond prices dropped sharply. They steadied after September and interest rates were up a little. The trend toward cheap money seems to have been checked. The big investor will profit, of course, but so will the widow, the man with a savings account, and every holder of an insurance policy.

Taxpayers will feel the change adversely as the government pays more interest on its huge debt in the future. But every thinking individual surely realized that some day we would all have to pay the piper for lend-lease dance of the New Deal.

Okinawa Continues To Be Costly

LONELY island of Okinawa which cost the United States 40,000 casualties continues to be expensive in peace time. While its ultimate disposal is yet to be settled by peace treaty, this important air base, administered by the United States, probably will come under some sort of permanent American jurisdiction.

Since the war's end the United States has sent large amounts of food stuffs there as well as seeds and farm equipment. Almost 13,000 houses have been rebuilt from salvaged materials with 90,000 more planned. Schools have been opened for the island's 100,000 children, health, sanitation and nursing projects have been started. The native population, less than half a million, is predominantly of women. Even when it was part of Japan, the island was not self-supporting and some observers think it never can be.

This continuing expense and responsibility of Okinawa is typical of the expanded obligations the war has brought. Peace has come, but no return to the old days, no going back to old "normalcy." A world war was fought and won. The results bring new burdens, administrative and financial.

Some of these can be dropped after a while, but reduced federal budgets and shortened lists of government employees cannot be achieved so easily as people like to think.

New Features For Football Banquet

INTEREST GROWS daily as plans roll ahead for the News-Journal's eleventh annual football banquet to be held Monday, January 13. This year something new has been added in that hundreds of tickets are available to the public. Because of limited space it was necessary in previous years to limit general attendance so that in effect there were almost as many people being honored at the event as there were people there honoring them.

This year approximately 600 seats are available at the Coliseum in addition to those reserved for the football teams of Mansfield and Madison high schools and their coaching staffs.

Big drawing card for everyone interested in football is this year's speaker—nationally known coach of Indiana University, Bo McMillin. His reputation was considered of sufficient interest for the Saturday Evening Post recently to print a lengthy article regarding him.

McMillin will also show special color films of the 1946 Indiana-Nebraska grid game.

New this year will be a special "most valuable player" award by The News-Journal. There will also be the awarding of gold footballs by Sam Fox and the presentation of school letters for the Senior high players.

With a plain, substantial meal promised, the eleventh annual grid banquet begins to add up to one of the outstanding sports occasions of the year.

Their Music Will Live Long

TWO AMERICAN composers died recently in California, but their music lives on as a part of our national lore of romance. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who died at 84, left us "I Love You Truly" and "The End of a Perfect Day." Charles Wakefield Cadman is best known for "At Dawning" and music on Indian themes.

Mrs. Bond composed from necessity. At 32, her husband died leaving her penniless, with a son to support. She began writing ballads and struggled long to get them published. How well she succeeded is attested by the sale of "Perfect Day," which reached more than 5,000,000 copies.

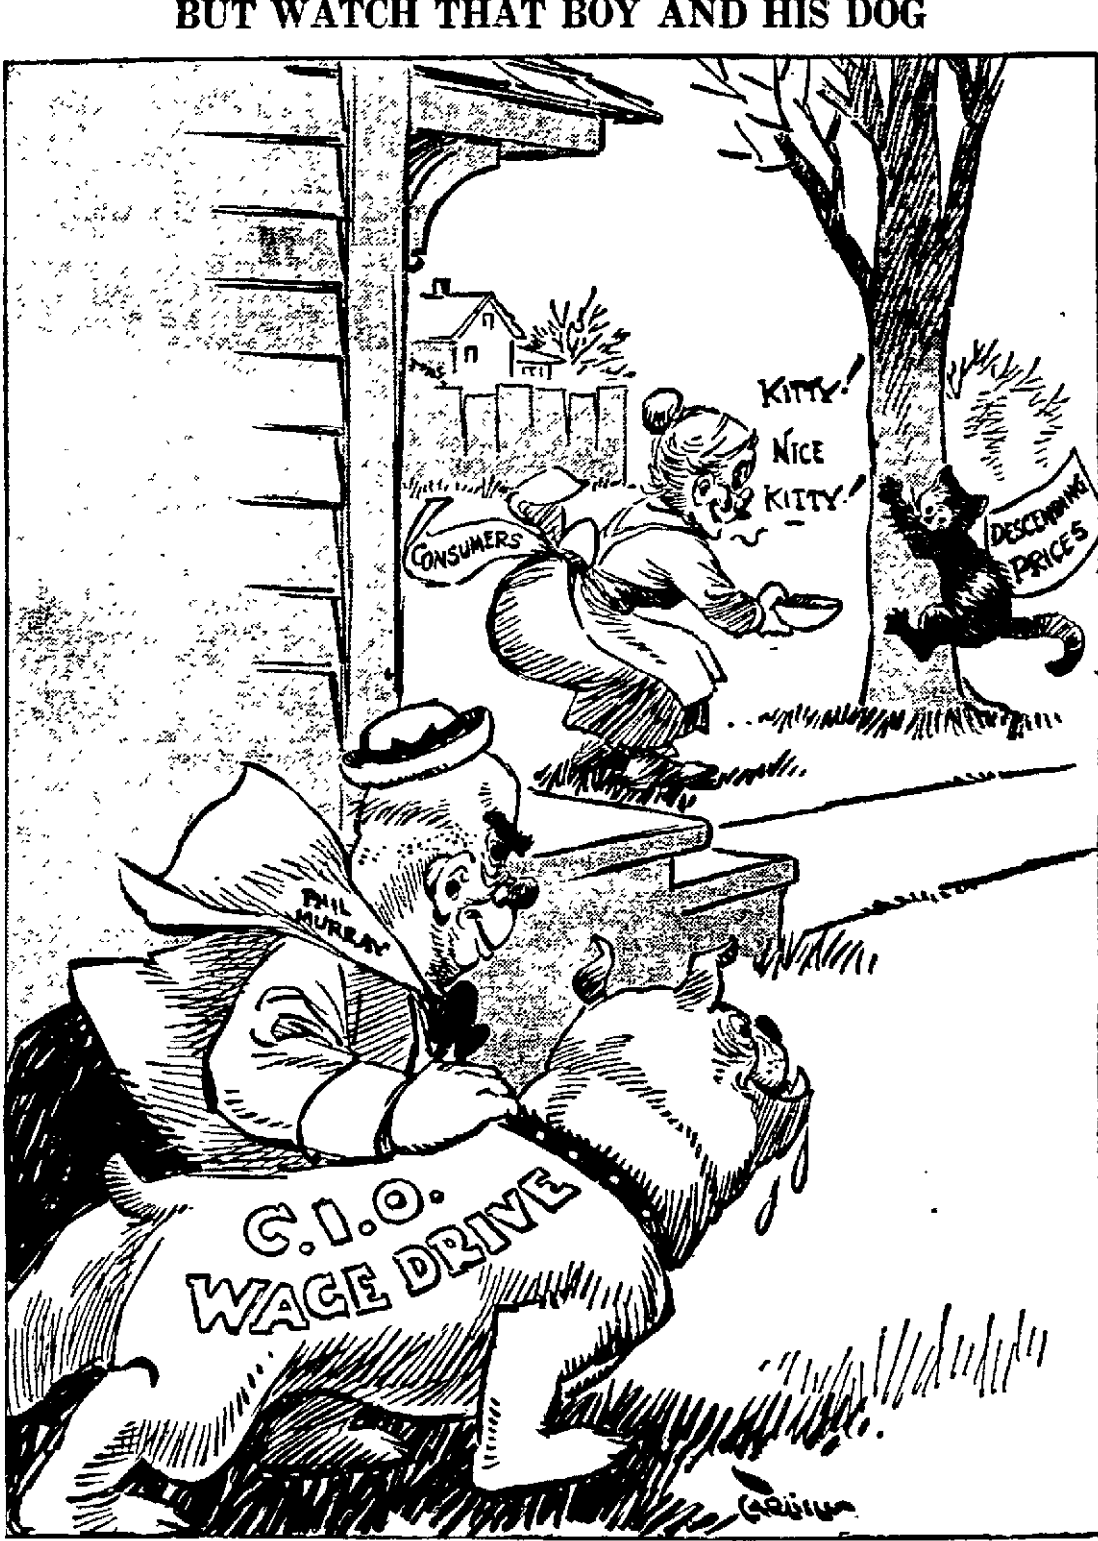

Mr. Cadman was a professional musician and a resident of Pittsburgh where he was a church organist.

The beauty of their music is a perfect monument to both composers.

That always helpful American Association for the Advancement of Science announces that an oyster can live ten months when frozen solid—but this doesn't clear the point of why the slightest noise annoys an oyster.

A New York magazine editor says that he could accept only one poem of 1,500 submitted—which is one instance in which supply always exceeds demand.

It seems odd that Prince Philip of Greece speaks no Greek—and surely there must be a word for it.

'Pocketbook' Congressmen' Give Selfish Interests Topmost Place

WASHINGTON—One big thing the new Republican majority can do for congress is to revive old-fashioned standards of morality when it comes to pocketbook congressmen.

A pocketbook congressman is one who thinks more of his pocketbook interest than the public interest, and in recent years there have been far too many of same.

Here is how it works: When Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma, was making speeches against any curbs on cotton speculation at the very same time his wife was speculating on the cotton market, Thomas was not working for the public interest. He was working for his pocketbook interest.

And when Congressman Frank K. Efe, Republican, of Wisconsin, led the fight to ban national currencies for war heroes, putting across a profitable plan for private cemeteries at the very same time he was president of the private Lakeview Memorial cemetery at Oshkosh, he was working for himself. Last spring when this column exposed the cotton speculations of the Thomas and Bankhead families, a copy of the exposure was sent to every member of the U. S. senate by this writer asking for opinion on whether the senate should be used as a medium for influencing cotton speculation.

Several senators expressed themselves vigorously though privately, but only two—Glenn Taylor of Idaho, a Democrat, and Wayne Morse of Oregon, a Republican—were willing to do anything publicly.

Today, however, the shocking war-contract scandals of Senator Bilbo of Mississippi and Rep. May of Kentucky have given the Republican leaders a real chance to replace the new broom. They can require every member of congress to register his private stock-market transactions, his fees received by law firms, and the financial interest he holds in various companies.

The case bill would have required labor unions to register salaries, incomes and expenditures—all for public inspection. This should be done. But what's the labor for the congressional gander.

GOP Senators Snarl.

Senate Republicans started off with a certain amount of angry snarling at their first caucus this week, but were finally whipped into line by Senator Bob Taft's steam-roller methods. He cracked the lash over the secret caucus like a circus ring-master, as the three insurgents—Tobey of New Hampshire, Wilson of Iowa, and Reed of Kansas—will testify.

After it was all over, most senators issued harmony statements, but the senator from New Hampshire left the cat out of the bag when half humorously, half plaintively, he admitted:

"I was fired, but when they hit the old armor plate they just ricocheted."

Real fact is that it was young Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts who saved the day for the Taft majority by diplomatically stepping aside when Senator Tobey proposed a resolution restoring seniority. "Well, there are all kinds of seniority," retorted Taft cheerily. "There's seniority in the senate itself, committee seniority and geographical seniority. It starts when an individual senator wants a certain committee assignment. If another senator wants the same assignment, the question of seniority arises."

Taft went from there into a grandiose dissertation on whether ability should be the determining factor in committee appointments, finally concluding that ability should come after seniority.

One Man's Opinion

WE ARE now resting quietly between peace and conflict. . . . testing the direction of the wind with a damp finger.

Hostilities have ended but until further notice it is proper to say, "what's-a-matter, don't you know there's a war still on?"

The reasons for Mr. Truman's move still are a little vague. There is one story that with the Republicans coming in, the former artillery captain decided against war on two fronts.

Admirable in the organization of the new congress was the speed with which a minority ship and whipping boy were selected. . . . Bilbo winning the latter without contest.

Now for the long winter season—curled up by the fireplace with an apple and a good congressional record.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Eisenhower Boom Had Military Start.

WASHINGTON—This merely is an attempt to untangle what is known in these parts as the "Eisenhower incident."

It could just as well be called "The Case of the Backwood Candidate," or maybe "The Mystery of the Obiquitous Button."

It concerns the recent report—immediately denied in the first person—that General Dwight D. Eisenhower is considering the presidency in 1948.

It also concerns those strange "Draft Ike" buttons which have popped up all over Washington during recent months.

The question is: who started the report, who (indirectly) circulated the buttons and who is pushing Ike's name forward?

The answer is: the army. . . . When you take a second look at the answer, you also can understand why General Eisenhower promptly denied saying that he would run for president "if drafted."

In his present position, that might possibly commit him to competition with his current chief executive, which isn't being done in the army these days, Sir!

In addition, that would defeat the aims of those who are stressing his possible candidacy. . . . There are a lot of people who would like to see Ike run for president in '48, because both public opinion polls and political pundits agree that he could beat any opponent in either party.

So, obviously, if the general decided to toss his overseas bonnet into the ring, the donkey and the elephant would fight to see who got in line for his favors first. (You see, due to his long life as a career soldier, the general never has made his political preference clear. Thus, both court his favor.)

Meanwhile, the military people—and particularly the army—know where they stand. Should he be elected president, it would be strictly a military reign, so to speak. . . .

So we come to current controversies. . . .

To begin with, the day that brought the latest Eisenhower trial balloon also brought the official transfer of atomic control from the hands of the military into the hands of a civilian headed by a 36-year-old engineer.

Neither the army nor the navy liked that. They wanted that control. But they know that the new congress is unlikely to shift it back into their hands—unless forced. . . .

Secondly, there's the matter of the universal draft. Not waiting for instructions from their commander-in-chief, the military men have already bombarded the new congress with propaganda designed to prove the necessity for continuance of that draft. But even they know that it's unlikely the new congress will pass any sort of permanent draft law—unless forced. . . .

Finally, there are all of these investigations of the military caste system, and the court martial methods. Each probing board has demanded revisions and enforcement of those revisions, and it is quite likely that the new congress will make such recommendations law—unless forced to do otherwise. . . .

Now what could possibly put a stop to all those developments? What could put control of the atomic bomb back in military hands, pass the universal draft law and pigeon-hole revision of the caste and court-martial systems?

Why, don't be stupid, chum! The threat of General Eisenhower going over to the opposite party as standard-bearer, of course!

And that, boys and girls, is why the army is putting out all this propaganda about him maybe being a candidate. Actually, he doesn't give a whoop.

But if the Pentagon building and the navy building can convince the new congress—Democrats and Republicans alike—that he's a potential menace, they may get a lot of measures passed that wouldn't have a chance otherwise.

At least, that's what I hear in these parts. . . .

Timely Editorial

More About That "Dear Sir."

Some 1,000 officials of manufacturing and industrial enterprises throughout the nation are receiving invitations to join in a campaign to end the custom of starting business letters with the salutation "dear."

The invitation is being extended by a Chicago group calling itself the Society for Abolishing "Dear" in Business Letters.

The society holds that "dear, the most insincere word in business letters, is at best an antique." It would free the word for use only as a term of affection.

We favor any movement for better business letters, but we feel there is more room for improvement at the other end of the letter. A more sensible campaign would encourage business men to sign their names in round, legible letters. Then stenographers would not have to type their bosses' names under their signatures so recipients might know who is calling them "dear," or whatever they are being called.—Toledo Blade.

Occupation of Germany Is Long-Time Job.

WASHINGTON—Shortly after the new congress convenes, the war department will send up a request for $300,000,000 to cover a deficit in the cost of occupying Germany, Austria, Japan and Korea during the past year. This sizable deficiency is a measure of the responsibility we confront in former enemy countries.

At the same time it is likely to provide a measure of the intentions of the new Republican majorities on this most critical question.

Here is a duty we cannot shirk if we are to meet the obligations that are ours in an uncertain world.

The temptation will be, of course, to exploit the troubles of American occupation commanders for political purposes. Those troubles are very real. Our occupation forces have been scaled down and scaled down and scaled down again, until reliance must be placed on green, scarcely trained troops 18 and 19 years old. One result is indiscipline and violence, since even for a seasoned army the role of occupation is a difficult one.

The senate's defense investigating committee has as a piece of unfinished business an investigation into our occupation of Germany. On the basis of a tour of our zone, the committee's investigator, George Meader, wrote a sensational report which the Republican minority gave out in spite of a majority vote to withhold it.

The mischievous Meader report showed the sensational headlines on sex and crime that could come out of a brief look into the conduct of our forces in what was once Hitler's reich.

The new Republican chairman of the defense investigating committee will be Senator Owen people who ever did much for the Democratic party. They are the people who argue, so sweetly and reasonably, that the Democratic party should become conservative. They argue thus for a sound reason which is that the Democratic party never wins elections as a conservative party. There's good reason for that, too. If the people want to turn to conservatism, they go to the Republican party. Then they are sure.

There is a political danger in the sort of course Mr. Truman has pursued. This is that Republicans suddenly will fool you and come up with something of their own, or something they borrowed from the Democrats, and get away with it. Also they'll get the credit—which they certainly are entitled to, and more power to them.

They are in a fine position to do just that right now.

And there's a dandy illustration of how they have done it in one important issue. This is Senator Taft's announcement that he plans to introduce a bill for federal subsidies to build low-cost rental housing for war veterans, lifting this one section from the more comprehensive Wagner-Elender-Taft housing bill which passed the senate in the last congress but was pigeonholed in the house.

Senator Taft's measure would provide for 500,000 rental units over a period of four years.

The Ohio Republican senator is stepping out to do something about the nation's No. 1 domestic problem. It is generally agreed that its low-cost rental units that the veterans need. They can't pay the prices for homes which are going out of sight since price controls were lifted. Most of them never could afford houses anyway. They wanted nice apartments at low rent.

EVERY winter we have made it a practice to rub the trunks of our young trees with bloody liver, (or scrapings from skins) to keep away the rabbits. The nine-year-old boy did this chore the last time, four weeks ago.

Walking yesterday, near the top row of orchard, I found one tree that rabbits had girdled. When I reported it, at the dinner table, the small boy remembered, "When I lived out of the upper rows, I ran out of liver, and had to go back for more. I wasn't sure just which tree I did last, so I guessed at it. I must have missed one—but how did that rabbit know?"

HAVING no sugar for some time past, we made adequate Christmas candy with granulated honey and bitter chocolate, dates and nuts. Line a pyrex plate with waxed paper, and warm on top of the stove. Press the bar of chocolate against the paper, until the melted chocolate covers the bottom. Let cool. Spread a layer of granulated honey on top of the chocolate. Chop dates and nuts and press down firmly—cover with melted chocolate, and garnish with nut meats. Chill overnight. Carve into bars or squares. This natural sweet has never made any one ill, no matter how much he ate. . . . Experience speaking. Dates stuffed with honey and chocolate dipped, are a variation.

OUR Christmas tree made a wonderful bonfire last night. There's a swoosh and a crackle and an odor of pine that belongs to the very last of the dying year. The tree was big—it filled one corner of our living room. In fact, we moved the corner cupboard out to make room for it. For a long, hilarious week it held its place. Now it has gone up in a final burst of glory, and there is a spacious, calm, deliberate anticipation. . . . that springtime is on its way.

From a little distance, I watched the children dance and skip and saw the ruddy firelight upon their faces. Only twenty minutes and the tree was glowing embers, with showers of sparks that whirled away against the darkness. With a short stick, I pushed the unburned outside ring of pungent wood and smoking needles into the center of the heap. In silence we all stood by and watched the flames crackle and begin to rise.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Jan. 4.

While a menaced or dubious situation of well-launched projects and propositions of major importance may be decisively reorganized by shrewd reworking of plans, there may be friendly support from important personages. Yet there is hazard through some very inconsiderate or even violent opposition from unexpected quarters. This might have a personal slant, so it is recommended there be a judicious use of heart and head.

profit by a definite determination to forge ahead on cherished objectives already well established by grim determination, fortitude, hard work and sagacity. Yet there is a malicious portent having some hint of personal enmity, jealousy or spite, inciting to reckless words and other violent reactions. With a calm and reasonable combination of heart and head, there should be desired progress on realistic lines.

A child born on this day may be diligent, faithful and persevering, with sound ideas and purpose, yet it easily may be drawn into disagreements or regrettable experiences by want of cooperation between its mind and emotions.

Re-Condition Hair During Autumn

Specialists say that sunlight is helpful to the growth of the hair, that growth is more rapid in the summer than it is in cold weather. All very nice, but maybe the hirsute halo has changed in color and character. It may have suffered from sunburn, taken on streaks.

The hardresser at that lovely, restful, summer resort hotel may not have been as conscientious as the girl who usually takes such excellent care of your hair. The soap she used may have been harsh. Or maybe she got a bit tired before the rinsing was finished. Possibly, with many hotel guests howling for her services, she had to hustle through the job.

Women who are keen about hanging onto beauty assets, take a course of scalp treatments every autumn, the season when hair seems most to need these delightful services. Much can be done at home, but the experienced operator gets quicker results. If the beauty budget can bear the strain, you would do well to indulge in this sustaining treatment.

Scalp treatments vary somewhat, but all of them include vigorous brushing, to restore gloss,

Normal Child Can Spell Easily With Parent's Help

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
Any child with normal vision and hearing who succeeds at reading or arithmetic can also learn to spell.

If your child is a poor speller, first of all have his vision and hearing checked.

Nearly every poor speller has one or all the following faults: He doesn't, as he studies the word, connect it and its meaning with its letters in their proper order. He is in a great hurry and wants to go off half-cocked. He doesn't look at the word and its letters in sequence carefully, even while studying it. He will try himself out before he has learned it with certainty, often therefore practicing on it wrong.

When he writes he will take a chance at spelling any word even when he feels sure it is being spelled incorrectly. He lacks the attitude of carefulness and precision. He hardly has a good spelling conscience. Perhaps he supposes he will never learn to spell, being encouraged, alas, in this belief, no doubt, by his parents and an occasional teacher.

Good spelling consists chiefly in memorizing by rote the right letter sequence of a word in connection with the sight, sound and meaning of this word. It is best acquired by correct, frequent repetition of these associations. The main problem is to help the child avoid any wrong associations and to make the right one always and often enough to fix them permanently.

A good speller spells without thinking, as a rule. The word just spells itself. He does not have to be on guard. If there is an error almost surely there has been an error or many errors before.

Find out if your child can give the name of each letter of the heavy massage, to urge the blood streams to get about their business; application of tonics. A ten minute brushing alone will work wonders in the way of imparting vitality to the growth. The hair is treated a strand at a time, each strand held well away from the head, groomed with a rolling motion. The correct brush is narrow, and has stiff bristles set in groups. It is smacked right down on the flesh, and no fooling.

Should it happen that you cannot spare the time for more hair care than the necessary shampoo and wave-set every fortnight, you should do a little scalp gardening on your own. The best time for that is the night before the shampoo, so that, if you wreck your finger wave, it won't matter. Chances are that you will.

Have a ten minute brushing. Do it by the clock, and no cheating. After brushing the hair from forehead and sides, throw your head forward and brush up the back. Spread fingers and thumbs over the scalp, move it back and forth. A tight scalp causes restriction of

SHELBY SENDS
BILLS TO 1,540

SHELBY—The first sanitary sewer tax billings amounting to $5,109 for the last six months of 1946 today had been sent out to owners of property in Shelby, Harry Tiffany, utilities secretary, revealed.

Approximately 1,540 one-family dwellings and business places with less than five users received statements for the $2 tax approved last year by city council to boost the revenue for the general fund.

Although the funds received from the billings will go into a special sanitary sewer fund, it will put back into the general fund the money formerly spent for operation of the sewer plant.

Between $9,000 and $10,000 will be collected annually from the new sewer tax. The tax is $2 per month for single family dwellings and business places with five or fewer users.

Dwellings and apartments numbering 360 were sent bills in addition to the single family dwellings. The rate for apartments and dwellings with more than one family and to business places and industries employing more than five persons is set at $1.50 for each family for six months.

Industrial and business rates are $2 up to and including the first five employees, and 40 cents for each additional employee.

Bilbo's Fight for U. S. Senate Seat Recalls Newberry's Four-Year Battle

By ESTHER V. W. TUFTY
WASHINGTON — Mississippi's Senator Theodore Bilbo's troubles recall to veteran Washingtonians the last spectacular contest over a Senate seat—the four-year battle between Michigan Senator Truman H. Newberry and Henry Ford.

When it was over, Newberry had won a hollow victory, resigning 10 months after the Senate decided he was entitled to his seat. The automobile manufacturer, who had run with the backing of President Woodrow Wilson, lost all the way.

The affair drew from another Mississippi senator, the late Pat Harrison, congratulations for the American people "on what they have accomplished wherein the Republican Senate had failed," that is, getting Newberry's resignation.

WHAT MAKES THE STORY interesting now is the part played by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, then editor of the Grand Rapids, Mich., Herald; former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee; the late Luren Dickinson, then lieutenant-governor of Michigan and later governor, and former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state. Even Calvin Coolidge got into the act.

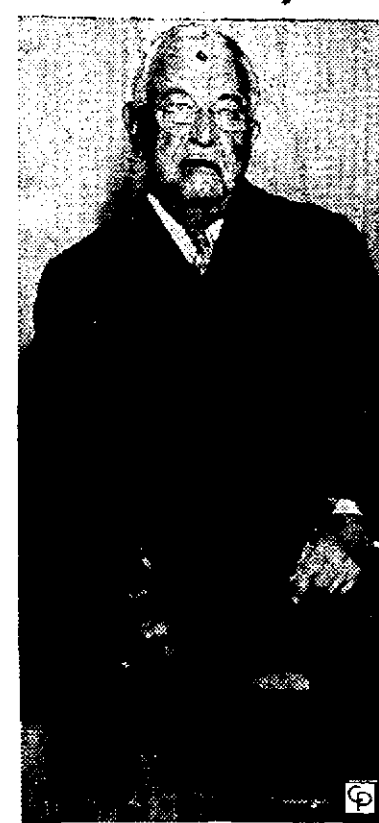

This is how it happened: Newberry, a Republican who had been assistant secretary of the Navy and briefly secretary of the Navy, defeated Ford by 7,567 votes in the election of Nov. 5, 1918. Ford had entered both Republican and Democratic primaries, losing in the GOP and winning Democratic tests.

FORD IMMEDIATELY PETITIONED the Senate to investigate the election on the ground that Newberry had spent unlawful amounts of money in his campaign. Others seemed to agree with Ford.

Vandenberg, for example, wrote Newberry telling him that gossip "charges you and your associates with the expenditure of money running into six figures in the erection of your senatorial organization. Such a situation must be intolerable to you, if these reports are false, as it is intolerable for the state if the reports are true."

He invited Newberry to answer, and Newberry sent him what he told one of his cohorts was a "non-committal reply which covers the situation in a rather flimsy manner."

ON AUGUST 22, 1918, TWO weeks after Vandenberg's letter, Dickinson wrote Newberry, telling him there was much talk throughout the state of "boodle," saying conservative estimates of his expenditures ran from $250,000 to $500,000, and noting that "hundreds of experts who have figured in or conducted for money the wet campaigns of the past are, among the most active of your supporters.

"I am therefore asking you," Dickinson continued, "in behalf of the old Republican party, clean politics, preservation of the primaries, social and business interest, to withdraw from this campaign and save the everlasting disgrace to the party and the state from a pollution that would stay for years."

Even a Newberry supporter, former Gov. Chase S. Osborn, advised him not to deny the spending rumors, adding, "I am for you only to save the nation and the state from the curse of Fordism. A vote for Ford is a vote for the Kaiser right now, as I view the case."

NEWBERRY TOOK OFFICE on May 19, 1919, at the opening of a special session, while the committee on privileges and elections, in a recount, reduced his plurality to 4,334.

Several months later, Newberry and 134 others were indicted under the Corrupt Practices Act on a charge that they had conspired to have Newberry spend more than half one year's salary of the post he was seeking. That amounted to $3,750.

Newberry and 16 others were found guilty, but their convictions were set aside by the supreme court in a 5-4 decision on the ground that the law applied to federal elections whereas the charges related to the primaries, which were strictly state affairs.

CORDELL HULL, IN AN ATTACK on Charles Evans Hughes, person in America who does not know that fact."

The incident gave the Democrats a by-word, "Newberryism." Hull rang many a charge on it. While this was going on, the Senate committee was still hard at work. A majority report found Newberry innocent, while a minority report recommended his seat be vacated.

Even the majority found that $195,000 had been spent in Newberry's behalf, but "without his knowledge."

ON JAN. 12, 1923, NEWBERRY was ruled entitled to his seat by a vote of 46-41, with nine senators not voting. It was almost a straight party division, all 46 in the majority being Republicans. Nine Republicans and 32 Democrats voted against seating Newberry.

Some 10 months later, Newberry resigned because his usefulness has been "impaired" by the contest over his election. The contest itself, before the Senate in eight consecutive sessions, cost the upper chamber $31,323.19.

FIVE CREWMEN LEAP TO SAFETY

LONDON—(CP)—The Air ministry announced today that all five crew members of an American flying fortress lost over Scotland had parachuted to safety.

Three of the bomber crewmen bailed out over Lerwick in the Shetland islands. Shortly after, the two remaining members parachuted into the sea and were promptly picked up, the ministry said.

The plane was on a "local" flight out of Iceland but was diverted to Prestwick, Scotland, the ministry added.

A ministry spokesman said the whereabouts of the plane were unknown but that it presumably crashed into the water. He said the cause of its difficulties was not yet known. The weather probably prevented it from returning to Iceland and its fuel ran short over Scotland, he said.

Due at Prestwick, Scotland, at 10 p. m. last night, the Fortress was not heard from until 1 a. m.
